GREAT WALL OF GORGAN

Also called the Gorgan Defense Wall, Anushiravân Barrier & Sadd-i-Iskandar is an ancient defensive facility located in the Gorgan region of northeastern Iran, anciently known as Hyrcania.

It is also known as The Red Snake among archaeologists due to the color of its bricks.

“IRAN'S LADY OF HORSES”

LOUISE FIRROUZ (Louise Elizabeth Laylin)
Was an American-born, Iranian horse breeder & researcher, Who introduced a rare & elegant breed of horse called the “CASPIAN PONY”.
She is reposing in her lovely farm, nearby her horses in “Qara Tappe Sheikh” in northern Iran.

THE CASPIAN PONY is thought to be one of the oldest horse or pony breeds in the world today, dating back from the now extinct miniature horses of Mesopotamia, who lived in the region from 3,000 BCE until the 7th century.
